TEMPLE IS ASSURED

Washington Masons Soon to Have New Home.

BUILDING FUND IS SWELLING

Reports Show That Greater Portion of Money Required Is Already in the Hands of the Treasurer—More Subscriptions to Be Turned In—To Hold Fair—President's Address.

That the new Masonic Temple will soon be an addition to the stately buildings of Washington was assured last night at a meeting of the Masonic Temple Association. Encouraging reports were read of the progress which is being made in collecting the large fund necessary for the construction of the building and the figures showed that the greater part of the sum is now in the hands of the treasurer. More subscriptions than appear on the books of the association have been sent to the various lodges in the city, and it is probable that these, which will be turned in about the time of the fair, will greatly swell the total receipts.

The election of officers was marked with the usual harmony, most of the executives being seated by a unanimous vote. John H. Small, Jr., was re-elected president, with Matthew Trimble, vice president, John H. Olcott, secretary, and James A. Sample, treasurer. The auditing committee elected last night is composed of the following members: Frank H. Thomas, James B. Lambie, and Henry K. Simpson. The president appointed the following committees: Executive, J. H. Small, Jr., chairman; S. P. Bond, B. S. Graves, G. W. Evans, Thomas P. Morgan, J. H. Olcott, Alexander McKenzie, and Frank H. Thomas; ways and means, George W. Evans, H. Standford, William Henderson, and J. B. Garrison; building committee, Thomas P. Morgan, Matthew Trimble, Allison Naylor, Jr., Alexander McKenzie, and Harrison Dingman.

President J. H. Small, Jr., made an address which covered the work of the association for the past year, and gave a clear account of the history of the association from its beginning. He said in part: "The proceeds of the fairs of 1888 and 1892, together with stock subscriptions, enabled us to purchase the property at the corner of Thirteenth and H streets and New York avenue, and clear it of all incumbrance. We paid for this property $15,000. From June, 1899, to January 1, 1907, the gross receipts from rents have amounted to $24,709.94; the expenditures for repairs, taxes, and so on, amounting to $5,241.46, leaving a net profit of $19,468.48. "After the purchase of the site our energies were directed toward the erection of the building, and a set of plans was unanimously adopted, which would make the building cost $400,000. In order to negotiate a loan sufficient to construct the building, it was necessary for us to have in addition to the unimproved property $150,000. Of this amount we had at that time in the treasury about $25,000. It, therefore, became necessary for us to raise the sum of $125,000.

Not All Respond to Call. "Looking to this end, it was suggested that if each Mason in the District would pay $15 the sum necessary would be forthcoming, and every effort with that end in view was made. The result was that of the twenty-seven lodges in the District only four have complied with our request, but these four have furnished more than their quota of $15 per head. Twelve other lodges have responded, and are still working on the project, but have not made their full subscription, leaving eleven lodges that have never responded to our appeal. "At the annual meeting last year a May festival was held, which netted $15,229.33. In addition to this sum, the managers of the festival turned over to this association the scenery used, for which they paid, which becomes an asset of considerable value, approximating $1,000, and which will be used at the coming fair. "The executive committee has been hard at work perfecting plans which will enable us, by January 15, to invite estimates for the building, as we will get possession of the property at that time. Notice has been served on our tenants to vacate by that date, and it is promised to give another fair, and from the enthusiasm displayed there is every prospect of the project proving a great financial success.

Every Reason to Feel Proud. "I think we have every reason to feel proud of the condition of the affairs of the association and the progress made. On January 1, 1907, the stock subscriptions amounted to $108,730, representing 19,570 shares of stock, on which $107.38 has been paid, leaving a balance due of $2,358. Our cash balance in bank on January 1, 1907, was $31,257.29. "Since that time there has been received by the secretary on account of the festival $6,000, making a total cash balance at this time of $57,257.23. This, with the balance due on stock, makes our total assets reach the sum of $90,852.29, in addition to the property which we own. "I desire to bring to your attention the fact that no history of the Masonic Temple Association, written by any one, has been written. It seems to me most desirable that there should be a good record made from the formation of the association. I, therefore, recommend that the executive committee be directed to prepare a comprehensive history of the work done, and to collect all necessary papers and place them in the archives."

Dr. Conley Lectures on Sicily. At the regular meeting of the Classical Club of the George Washington University, held Friday evening in University Hall, Dr. Arthur Stoddard Conley, of Amherst, Mass., the traveler and lecturer, gave an illustrated address on Sicily. He began by directing attention to the Sarcenic and Norman buildings of Palermo, and then carried his audience with him to the sites of Syracuse, Selinus, Girgenti, Syracusa, and Taormina. His lecture was richly illustrated by lantern slides. Last evening Dr. Conley gave an illustrated lecture on Greek architectural remains in Sicily before the Architectural Club of the George Washington University.

INDORSEMENTS POURING IN.

Commissioners Urged to Report Favorably on Madden Bill.

The Commissioners are in daily receipt of letters from citizens indorsing the Madden gas bill. In a communication on this subject, Walter I. Stanton, of the United States reclamation service, states: "I am, as a resident of Washington, in favor of this measure. Ten years ago the assistant State gas inspector of Massachusetts informed me that it cost but 34 cents per thousand feet to manufacture gas. This was ten years ago in Boston, and it does not seem reasonable to suppose that it would cost any more here in Washington at this time. It seems to me that 75 cents will allow a fair profit to the company, allowing for all necessary items of expenditures. "And I furthermore think that the company should be required to submit complete annual reports in such shape that the net profits, costs, and capitation should be shown clearly."

Notice of the favorable indorsement of the Anacostia Citizens' Association on the measure was received from the chairman of the committee on gas, F. Earnshaw. Charles E. Edgerton, 30 V street northwest, has also written to the Commissioners urging their favorable report on the Madden bill.

NEW BANK WILL OPEN SOON

United States Trust Company Is Looking for a Location.

Decision Is Reached to Incorporate Under Laws of the District of Columbia Instead of Virginia.

The plans of the United States Trust Company are fast maturing, and the new concern will probably open its banking house within about ninety days. One of the important matters to be settled is the place for housing the vaults and offices of the company. A number of projects have been under consideration with reference to this, one of them being the lease or purchase of the Bond Building and the reconstruction of the ground floor for the purposes of the company. It was stated yesterday that this plan had been abandoned, and that the company would locate elsewhere.

Two banking rooms now occupied will be vacated within a few months, and it is possible that one of them will be taken by the new company. Other available rooms have also been under consideration, though as yet no definite decision has been reached with reference to them. An important meeting of the promoters of the company was held, at which one thing determined upon was that the company would incorporate under the laws of the District of Columbia instead of under the laws of Virginia, as first intended. Another matter considered at that time was the acceptance of the president by Daniel N. Morgan, of New York, a financier of great ability. The position was offered to Mr. Morgan several days ago and accepted by him.

The promoters of the enterprise are giving attention to working up the stock subscriptions. It is the intention to capitalize at a minimum of $1,000,000, divided into shares of $100 each. Subscriptions will be received up to Thursday, January 21, when it is expected that the amount will be raised. The names of the men connected with the enterprise, so far made public, all of whom will be directors, are: C. J. Rixey, president; National Bank, Richard W. Beall, Owen Owen, Harry A. Kite, Wallace W. Chiswell, Philip G. Affleck, Thomas C. Bradley, Richard E. Clanton, and Daniel N. Morgan.

CONTENT WITHOUT POLITICS.

Old Resident Protests Against District Delegates in Congress.

The Commissioners yesterday received a letter from William W. Birch, the oldest member of the Association of Oldest Inhabitants, relative to the proposed legislation providing two delegates in Congress for the District of Columbia.

Mr. Birch says: "The administration of our affairs now is satisfactory to every citizen having at heart and in hope a quiet, peaceable, and successful administration. "The introduction of politics, which would inevitably follow the thoughtless change, would bring upon us the very objectionable conditions experienced under the past of the three forms existing in the past, generating heated passions, anger, hatred, and profanity, and all the vile and damaging feelings and acts always attending elections in which politics has a share. By every effort in your power, please endeavor to save us from such a fate, which would certainly overtake us if the contemplated change is made."

WRECK COST DISTRICT $1,200.

Coroner's Office, Left Without Sufficient Funds, Asks for Relief.

The Commissioners have been requested by Coroner J. Ramsey Nevitt to include an item of $1,200 in their deficiency estimates for the expenses of the coroner's office and the morgue for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1907.

The total estimated cost to the coroner's office, he states, arising from the Terra Cotta wreck incident is $1,300; pay of jurors, witnesses, and miscellaneous items, $500, and charge of stenographically reporting and transcribing testimony, $700. The balance to the credit of the coroner's office and the morgue is shown by the books to be $268.59. The cost of stenographically reporting the testimony in the inquest must be paid from this, leaving a balance of less than $20 to meet the expenses of the office from January 10, 1907, to June 30, 1907.

The request Coroner Nevitt was yesterday approved by Commissioner Macfarland.

Wants Commission Revoked.

Maj. Sylvester yesterday recommended to the Commissioners that the commission of Special Policeman Charles Dangerfield be revoked. Dangerfield, charged with assault with a blackjack on John Thomas, on the night of January 8, A $50 fine for the offense was imposed upon the officer in the Police Court. Maj. Sylvester's recommendation was made as the result of an investigation by Capt. Daniel Sullivan, of the Second precinct.

SIGNATURE IS MISSING

Codicil of Mrs. Hughes' Will Badly Mutilated.

AFFECTS SEVERAL BEQUESTS

Controversy as to Whether Paper Should Be Filed in Washington or in New York City—Estate Is Valued at About $125,000—Left No Heirs at Law—Confined in Insane Asylum.

The mutilated codicil to the will of the late Mrs. Louise Augusta Beauchamp Hughes was filed with the register of wills yesterday by Attorney W. H. Sholes, the paper being accompanied with an affidavit stating that when the attorney received the document from James G. Payne, auditor of the District Supreme Court, it was in the exact condition in which it now appears. Attorney Sholes states further that the codicil was handed to Col. Payne by Edward G. Niles, who has since died.

In connection with the administration of the estate of Mrs. Hughes, Judge Ivory G. Kimball and W. H. Sholes also filed a petition setting forth that they were the executors named in the last will of Mrs. Hughes, which paper is now in the possession of Attorney John C. Gittings. The petition asks that Gittings show cause why he should not file the will with the Probate Court. Judge Gould issued the writ prayed for, returnable January 17. While Attorney Gittings wants the will filed in New York, the executors desire that it be filed in Washington.

Signature Cut Out.

Mrs. Hughes died in New York January 7, 1907. The codicil, which was filed with her signature cut out, evidently with a sharp instrument, and otherwise mutilated, is dated June 28, 1900. The estate disposed of in the codicil has an apparent valuation of about $125,000. The greater part of the property is located in New York City, the rest of the estate being in Washington.

The codicil is attested and witnessed by Alice M. Burke, 244 Pennsylvania avenue northwest; William M. Johnston, 190 K street northwest, and J. J. Darlington, 40 Fifth street northwest. Every one of the three sheets of the instrument bears the signature of Mrs. Hughes on the wide margin of the paper, but the signature is mutilated by six clean cuts severing the name of the testator.

The petition of Ivory G. Kimball and W. H. Sholes, executors of the will of March 24, 1899, seems to throw a most peculiar light on the life of the late Mrs. Hughes. It is stated that prior to December, 1901, Mrs. Hughes resided in her home, 204 Rhode Island avenue northwest, which she owned at the time of her death. Some time in October or November, 1901, it is alleged, the mental condition of Mrs. Hughes became greatly impaired, so much so that local financial institutions refused to cash her checks. "She came under the influence, domination, and control of one Edward G. Niles," the petition continues, "who removed her, in December, 1901, or January, 1902, to a hotel in Baltimore."

Confined in Insane Asylum.

Some time in May, 1902, the petition claims, Mrs. Hughes went with Niles to New York, where she was installed in the Broadway Central Hotel. It is charged that Niles in June, 1902, had her declared insane by proceedings in New York. She was committed to a private insane asylum in New York, from which she was removed by writ of habeas corpus in November, 1902, because of irregularities in the former commitment.

On December 21, 1902, a jury declared Mrs. Hughes mentally "incompetent," and Andrew J. Shipman, of New York, was appointed committee of her person and the undivided Estates Trust Company was appointed committee of her estate, succeeding Niles, who had been appointed committee of her estate and person by order of June, 1902. It is declared that after the appointment of Shipman as committee of her person she was in the care of a trained attendant at the Park Avenue Hotel in New York.

It is contended in the petition that March 24, 1905, in this city, Mrs. Hughes executed a will prepared by J. J. Darlington, which will, as well as a later codicil, were left in the custody of Mr. Darlington. Some time in November, 1901, it is alleged, after the testatrix had come under the influence of Niles, Darlington was requested to return the will to Mrs. Hughes, which he did. Thereafter, they claim, it was given out that Mrs. Hughes had burned the document.

The claim is advanced that Mrs. Hughes left no heirs-at-law or no next of kin, and that Washington, having been her domicile, and her only real estate being in the District of Columbia, the will should be filed for probate in the District, which Attorney Gittings refuses to do.

Mr. Harp Recovering.

The numerous friends of Mr. W. H. Harp, who was severely injured in a street car accident Christmas Day, and who has since been confined to his room, expect a will, as well as a later codicil, to be at last able to get out of bed, and expects soon to be fully recovered.
